morning class

Friday morning and afternoon classes

Deborah has more than four decades teaching experience in creative arts and design within primary, secondary and tertiary schools and institutions. She strives to encourage and build understanding and skills in visual arts in students of all ages and backgrounds. She develops an honest and caring relationship with students and encourages them to value creative expression. Deborah is a skilled artist in her own right across multiple media and has developed close networks in the local art community.

Her class is suitable for both beginner and experienced art students. Emphasis is on developing artworks from new approaches through a range of media and subject matter.
