DRAWING, PASTEL & ACRYLIC

With Tracey Miller

Thursday afternoon & evening
and Friday afternoons

Tracey has taught art in schools since the 1980's. She has worked in secondary and primary schools, both in the city and in rural towns. She started tutoring adults in the 1990's and has been tutoring adults in the Southern Highlands for the past 6- 8 years. More recently Tracey has been working with the elderly including those with dementia.

She particularly enjoys teaching people about art and how to achieve the skills they seek as she finds it to be rewarding for both herself and the student. "Everyone has the ability to express themselves through making art works. It is a matter of learning to think like an artist and acquiring the appropriate techniques and skills."

Tracey particularly enjoys working with beginner artists.

When a student is prepared to let go of their learned or preconceived ideas, to take a chance and to trust in the direction given to them they will get results with which they will be happy.

Tracey's own art making is influenced by the local environment and surrounding nature.
